Graper Cosmetic Surgery Puts Patients First

BY MELINDA JOHNSTON

If you're considering plastic surgery, finding an experienced surgeon who is board certified in plastic surgery by the American Board of Plastic Surgery is job one. Ensuring that your facility of choice is certified by an approved accrediting agency is important, as well.

Dr. Robert Graper, founder of Graper Cosmetic Surgery, has been performing plastic surgery for 22 years, helping thousands of women — and men — look and feel their very best. Dr. Graper and his staff have a combined 185 years of cosmetic surgery experience ... important in a field where experience truly counts.

Whether you're interested in facial peels and fillers, a facelift, breast augmentation, breast reduction, or any other cosmetic surgical procedure, Dr. Graper and his staff are there to help. He has a special interest in rhinoplasty and is considered one of the area's best where noses are concerned.

"Rhinoplasty is probably the most interesting operation we do, but also the hardest to perform," says Dr. Graper. "In rhinoplasty, as in most all of our procedures, we do computer analysis and show you before and after images before you make a final decision."

Interestingly, sometimes his job requires him to talk patients out of having surgery. His practice focuses on educating patients on what's available, and which procedures would be in their best interests.

"If you come in and tell us that you want a particular procedure and it's not the best thing for you, we'll talk to you about other options," Dr. Graper explains. "If a patient asks for a facelift, but doesn't really need one, we will tell her it's not worth the cost or risk. Then we'll show her the improvements that she can get with fillers or other, more appropriate procedures.

"We understand what our patients want," Dr. Graper says. "They want safety, honesty, predictability, and privacy. At Graper Cosmetic Surgery, that's what we deliver." TCW
